BEHIND THE BUILD

One AI writes. A second AI checks.

How every weekly Google post gets made for our SEO Premier clients.

Jared Kolsun · Bright Automations

Swipe

01

AI is confident, not careful.

Ask it for a plumber's post and it may invent a service, a sale or a town. It sounds right either way.

02

The writer drafts the post.

It starts from the business itself: the services they actually offer and the areas they actually serve.

03

The checker reads it cold.

A second model compares every claim against the business's real information. It didn't write the post, so it has no reason to defend it.

04

Anything off gets caught.

A made up service, a wrong town, a promotion nobody approved. It gets fixed before the post goes up.

05

Then it posts, every week.

The owner's Google profile stays active without the owner writing a word.

Two models that disagree beat one that's always sure.

Speed is easy with AI. Being right is the real work.

Jared Kolsun

Co-Founder & CTO

Bright Automations · brightautomations.org

Follow for how we actually use AI for local businesses.